WEEKLY REPUBLICAN-1917.
AILY PUBLISHED DAILY-1917.

MAYSVILLE, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 20, 1917.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

LARGE SUBSCRIPTION

Made yesterday to the American Red Cross—Over Thirty-Five Hundred Dollars Already Subscribed.

The campaign now on in our city in behalf of the National Red Cross hundred million dollar fund is now moving forward to a certain consummation to the desired end. The purchase of Liberty Bonds was an investment and anyone able to buy one has now an asset with an assured dividend as good as gold. It was no patriotism to buy a Liberty Bond. Only by acting of self denial, self sacrifice and a devotion to a cause constitute patriotism.
The mere fact that we hurrah at the waving flag does not amount to anything other than a form of bravado to stand when America is sung is but an act of outward show and unless the doing to the death rests within the heart of the individual these are but tinkling symbols and sounding brass.

Now we have a chance to begin to show our devotion to that noble flag which is today seen fluttering from every pinnacle or upon the lapel of nearly every individual. In the effort to raise a sum for the Red Cross we are being born to the spirit which will carry to the point of enthusiasm knowing no bounds. We are at war. The mighty Imperial German Government is moving as one mighty machine and unless every true American arouses himself to realize his danger we are in imminent peril and stand in jeopardy every day. Give to the Red Cross. Give liberally to the committee and remember you are going to be called upon to give again. Therefore prepare your mind and prepare your heart and give not grudgingly but cheerfully and esteem it a privilege in order that we may follow the great truth, "Beware of entrance in to a quarrel; but, being in, bear thyself that thine enemy may beware of thee."

The committee appointed Monday night at the meeting at the High School yesterday afternoon spent about 2 hours in canvassing for the fund. In that time $1468.50, almost four-fifths of the amount allotted to Mason county, and this sum representing what has come from Maysville alone. The efforts of the workers have been met with splendid success.

Following the splendid meeting of Monday Mr. W. W. Ball, Jr., secretary of the Mason County Chapter of the Red Cross, telegraphed the result of the meeting to W. R. Lunk, secretary of the War Council. He received the following telegram in reply:

"War Council heartily congratulates Maysville on first report, keep it up and success is yours."

This morning Mr. Ball received another telegram from Mr. Lunk as follows:

"War Council congratulates Maysville on the patriotic her citizens are showing by the generous response and knows they will not stop until they have exceeded their goal."

Last night during the intermission being the first and second parts of the great picture "Civilization" at the Washington Opera House, a collection was taken amount to $112.74. Mr. A.
G. Sulser of the Maysville Water Co. spoke a few moments concerning the needs of the Red Cross.

Thursday 2 p. m. Washington Presbyterian Church. Everybody urged to come. The church President Wilson set for special week expires Saturday.

CENTENNIAL CLOSES

At the First Presbyterian Church Last Night After Three Days of Celebration—Dr. W. C. Condit of Ashland and the Rev. Horace Wilson of Lansing,
Mich., Speakers.

The last service of the Centennial Celebration was a very fine one. The attendance was large notwithstanding the storm that threatened—an evidence of the general interest in the speakers and the occasion. Dr. Condit opened by a presentation of the true grandeur of a church, the saving and training of men by the presence of God dwelling in the church. He told of his intimate knowledge of the Maysville church since his childhood. His father, the honored Rev. John H. Condit of Washington had been a classmate of Dr. Grundy at Princeton. He had come to this section six months before Dr. Grundy and for years their lives had been side by side and very intimate. They had known as household talk of Dr. Grundy's trials and struggles growing out of his courageous nature which was always challenging evil somewhere. He remembered their often slipping down Sunday evening when they had no service to attend the Maysville church.

Dr. McClung too, who succeeded he remembered vividly. He described the re-appearance of Dr. McClung in Presbytery to seek reordination. The moderator had asked him to tell of the years when he had been in darkness of doubt and retired from the ministry.
As the impressive face and figure of Dr. McClung stood before them and he gave his account there was not a dry eye in the room. He said that in all his darkness he had never failed to pray at night—not being able to get away from the habit his mother taught him. Dr. Condit's closing words were very fine and the impression made very great.

Dr. Alderson, former pastor of this church said that three years ago he had retired from a forty years ministry supposing the church would have no further need of his grey hairs, but that his present charge in Topeka had been pressed upon him and he was having a delightful work. With the privilege of familiarity of the circumstances surrounding him he told of his wife and her continued usefulness in the work. Mrs. Alderson was always beloved and admired in this church, and there was general response to his tribute to her. Called out by the pastor he told how every one of his five living children is now in charge of large, sometimes vast business enterprises or married to prominent and useful men—a proof of the estimate and training of the minister's children.
Speaking of his work he was carried on to tell of the great wealth of Kansas, and the splendid prosperity that had come to it as a dry state. Closing he thanked God for what improvement he saw in Maysville and urged that she keep the evil of alcohol out of her business. He said he had met scores of Kentuckians in Kansas who had removed their families to avoid the temptations of liquor. In the total this had been a tremendous loss to Kentucky. Dr. Alderson's bow still abides in strength and his beautiful voice delights his hearers as of old.

The pastor introduced Dr. Horace Wilson as our very own one who had been born and reared in this church.
Dr. Wilson responded in a beautiful address on "Our debt to the Mother Church." He said he owed it to this dear old church, of which his honored father's family was a part, for protection from the destruction which had overtaken so many Maysville boys. He told of his fine work in Lansing, Mich., with Judges of the Court of Appeals and the Governor of the state sitting in his congregation. Recurring to his Maysville memories he described the scene when the veteran father of the pastor, Mr. James Barbour, had urged the church to decorate the beautiful auditorium in which they were then sitting, and how tastefully it had been done everybody knew.

Dr. Wilson said he did not think the Maysville people appreciated this great church, judging by the way some seemed to be tiring of its services. He said that his people had just built a new church, but that whenever the Maysville people were willing to trade he would like to exchange and put this handsome structure on their own lot.

Dr. Wilson with earnestness and yet with a becoming delicacy urged the church not to be satisfied with the past but to fall into the new methods and work of this generation. He repeated the testimony of one of their most distinguished judges to the power of the Bible in forming character. He said he had thought of this when hearing Judge Cochran's clear presentation of the true function of a church to make character, and that everywhere the Men's Bible Classes are the means by which the church was being aroused and made a power again.

Dr. Wilson's beautiful resonant voice and graceful easy poses and gestures together with his fine thought and earnest, at times eloquent manner made of him a splendid preacher. He is always listened to with pride in his old town, and the faces of his handsome wife and children are most welcome among us.

The great Centennial then closed with general greetings to our visitors and happy testimonies to the good the celebration had done to the church and the community.

ARE WE CIVILIZED?
No one attending the wonderful photoplay, "Civilization" at the Washington Opera House last night, could have failed to have been thrilled by the wonderful scenes shown on the screen. War and all of its horrors were shown with a startling reality.
The picture is a splendid argument for peace and has a splendid moral for every one. Many who saw the picture took the moral to be for the rulers of nations, but this is not so. The moral is for every man, woman and child and he is indeed lacking in moral powers that cannot see the great teaching of the picture.

Every person in Maysville should see this picture tonight, the last chance to do so.

REMEMBER

Tomorrow, Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock on the premises, the sale of the Caldwell property at 1023 East Second street will take place. This property is splendidly located, modern home, with an abundance of ground extending to the river and should prove very attractive to any one desiring Maysville real estate, either as a home or investment.

WILL AID IN ORGANIZATION

Hon. W. D. Cochran of this city will be in our sister city of Vanceburg tonight to assist in the organization of members will doubtless be secured.

Jennie Curtis Bullock, 23, both of the Orangeburg neighborhood, were granted a license to wed yesterday by County Clerk J. J. Owens. They will be pastor of the Christian Church.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The Sunday School of the Central Presbyterian Church will have their tos will leave the church at 8:30 and

MAYSVILLE MAN

Is Aboard U. S. Steamer Sunk by German Submarine on Last Saturday—G. C. Wilkins From This City Among Crew.

The Cincinnati Times-Star last night carried the following story: The name of Wilkins does not appear in either the city or county directory. It is said that he was home several weeks ago visiting his mother who lives in Eastland.

New York, June 19—There were two Ohioans and one Kentuckian in the crew of the Standard oil tank steamer John D. Archbold, which, it is announced, was sunk by a German submarine last Saturday. The vessel was two days out from a French port and en route to the United States.

The ship was armed and a gunner's crew from an American warship was on board. Three of the ship's crew were killed and two drowned. The names of three of the men are Jose Lorenzo, an oiler; Gregoria, a fireman, and Domingo Lago, a wiper.

The John D. Archbold was an American steamship of 8,374 tons gross register, owned by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and built in 1914 at Newport News. The ship left here May 20 for Havre and Rouen, France, with cargo under the command of Captain H. B. Thompson with a crew of 41 men, of whom twelve were Americans.

The records of the U. S. commissioner of shipping here show the following names among the crew whose American citizenship was claimed at the time of signing on. W. H. Griddly, mate, Park Gate, building, Chicago.

THE DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER

Published Daily Except Sunday, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas by the Ledger Publishing Company, Maysville, Kentucky.

KEEPING BIRTH RECORDS

There is one thing every father and mother in Maysville and Mason county owe their children—a clean certificate of birthright.

Every child born in the world today is entitled to have its name recorded in the office of the State registrar of vital statistics over at Frankfort. The father or mother are possibly not to blame for those who now bump shoulders with the world to find that in many instances a registered certificate of birth is of as great importance as a certificate of marriage. In days gone by the family Bible was considered all-sufficient. And in those days people took other people's word for many things that fail to go unquestioned now.

Today it is different. The child born into the world now is entitled to have its name recorded in the big "Kentucky family bible" at the capital of the State. In fact, there is a law in the State of Kentucky that makes it mandatory upon the attending physician to register births. In Ohio there has been several instances wherein physicians have treated this law lightly, and in several instances they have been called to account, with the result that at least two of them came dangerously near forfeiting their license to practice medicine.

It is to be hoped that the physicians of Maysville and Mason county will look at this law in the light it deserves. Special agents of the United States census bureau are here now investigating to see if all babies born are being promptly and properly registered. Birth registration is of vital interest to our welfare and the welfare of our country in coming years. Military conditions now arising shows plainly the need of a clean certificate of birth. The public demands it; the parents prefer it; the babies born are entitled to it, and the Ledger sincerely hopes that every physician in Maysville and Mason county will not be lax in their duties now or at any future time.

Writing from Lexington to the Cincinnati Enquirer, Governor Stanley's press agent states that the Governor is preparing to go about the State interfering in the various county races and urging Democratic voters at the primary to put none but Stanley men on guard. This is a good thing for Kentucky Democrats to know. Governor Stanley proposes to make war upon all Democrats who will not pledge themselves to him for Senator three years hence. If this good politics the Ledger is mistaken.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS EPIDEMIC OF 1916 REAPED TERRIBLE TOLL

New York, June 17—An official report of the 1916 epidemic of infantile paralysis, made public by the Department of Health here tonight showed that from June to November of that year there were 6,000 deaths from the disease in the United States registration and more than 27,000 cases, New York being the greatest sufferer. In the five years, 1910 to 1914, the United States Census Bureau recorded only 5,000 deaths.

The report covers thoroughly the entire history of the disease from the time of its discovery by the German physicians, Heine, in 1840, up to the studies of the late epidemic, which indicated that the most valuable means of diagnosis was the laboratory examination of spinal fluid.

Serum treatment is referred to cautiously in the report, which says on the subject:

"While no absolute judgment of the value of a serum can be based as yet upon the results obtained, they are, nevertheless, encouraging and justify a continuation of the serum treatment in acute poliomyelitis until in the course of time more definite data are available."

22,000 GERMANS KILLED, 26,562 LOST IN MAY

London, June 18—The German casualties as reported in the German official casualty list in the month of May, follows: Killed and died of wounds or sickness, 22,000; prisoners and missing, 26,562; wounded, 62,394. Total, 110,276.

These casualties added to those previously reported give the following total since the beginning of the war: Killed and died of wounds or sickness, 1,068,127; prisoners and missing, 557,410; wounded, 2,731,223. Total, 4,356,760.

Duluth, June 18—After surviving long service in the trenches in Belgium with the Canadian Overseas forces, Paul Spitaels was killed today by falling from a farm wagon. His neck was broken. Spitaels had been invalided home from Belgium.

Paterson, N. J. — "I thank you for the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies as they have made me well and healthy. Some time ago I felt so run down, had pains in my back and side, was very irregular, tired, nervous, had such bad dreams, did not feel like eating and had short breath. I read your advertisement in the newspapers and decided to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It worked from the first bottle, so I took a second and a third, also a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, and now I am just as well as any other woman. I advise every woman, single or married, who is troubled with any of the above-said ailments, to try your wonderful Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and I am sure they will help her to get rid of her troubles as they did me." — Mrs. ELSIE J. DRAFTED FORCE REFERRED TO AS "NATIONAL ARMY"

Washington, June 18—The first official reference to the National Army, the designation which will be applied to the forces raised under the selective draft law, occurred today in orders directing several reserve officers of the engineering corps to report to the commanding officer of "The Second Engineers, National Army, at St. Louis, Mo." The regiment is one of those previously designated as reserve engineers, a name abandoned because officials were convinced that there was only questionable legal authority for organization of such reserve regiments.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IS SHOWN IN REPORT ON GRAIN SITUATION

New York, June 17.—A statement that the grain transportation situation throughout the country shows marked improvement was authorized here tonight by Fairfax Harrison, Chairman of the Railroad War Board.

Reports received from the twenty-three principal grain carrying roads, the statement says, show there is comparatively little car shortage affecting grain movements and that there is virtually no disposition on the part of farmers or country elevators to hold back on shipment.

The board's subcommittee on car service has been endeavoring to relieve the grain transportation situation. To learn what this committee had accomplished and at the same time gather information for guidance in the board's plans to handle the 1917 grain crop, inquiries were addressed recently to the grain carrying roads. A summary of the replies, the statement says, shows that the old grain can be moved before the new crop is ready, that few country elevators are full and that nearly every car ordered for grain is used to capacity for that purpose.

MAYSICK CHAUTAUQUA

The enterprising committee in charge of the Mayslick Chautauqua has taken up the work of advertising for this year's entertainment. Yesterday posters giving the attractions, were placed in the public places of this city. We predict a most successful meeting which should be attended by all sections of our county. The dates are July 13, 14, 15.

FILMING OF "A RECKLESS ROMEO" LEADS TO MANY AN AMUSING INCIDENT

The making of "A Reckless Romeo," the second Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle comedy two reels to be released 21st by Paramount Pictures Corporation to all exhibitors was attended with some stirring episodes when the scenes shown in Palsades Amusement Park were being taken. The big amusement resort perched on top of the historic Palsades is a most animated place and there is always more or less excitement there but the presence of Mr. Arbuckle and his company of farceurs provided thrills and sensations that no oratorical "ballyhoo" man could do justice to.

Failure to take one of the Park's policemen into the confidence of the movie actors was responsible for at least two exciting incidents. Officer O'Leary is his name and as might be expected from this cognomen he takes his responsibilities seriously. So, when he saw a person of rural appearance involved in an altercation with the white aproned attendant of an ice cream cone stand he was prompt to act. Apparently the "farmerish" looking individual was trying to "beat" the park merchant out of two succulent cones and that was a misdemeanor of the gravest nature. With club in hand he pounced on the man with more speed than dignity he placed him under arrest. Protestations from the "farmer" that he was none other than Al St. John, famous as the original Keystone cop and therefore entitled to every courtesy from the police, were in vain until O'Leary discovered the camera man busily cranking his machine.

But instead of profiting by this experience O'Leary blundered again five or ten minutes later. His eagle eye caught a well groomed stout man in the act of ogling a lady seated on a park bench. Watching him closely O'Leary saw the man slide along the bench and encircle the lady's waist with his arm. That was carrying things altogether too far in a highly respectable park in broad daylight, decided O'Leary, and the result was a lively mixup. After the combatants were separated, O'Leary learned that the flirtatious one was "Fatty" Arbuckle and that the whole thing had been staged for the edification of moving picture fans. In the meantime footage of highly diverting sort had been piled up and nobody regretted the incident but the vigilant sleuth, who had thus unknowingly contributed his expert and official services gratis in the interests of art.

However, since this experience O'Leary has become very wary and wouldn't interfere even in a murder unless he made sure there was no camera in the neighborhood.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 18.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in an address here tonight in behalf of the Red Cross denounced the sentiment abroad in the United States against "fighting England's War."

"Any man who hates England more than he loves the United States should be thrown from the country," he said. The Colonel demanded that Americans curtail their pleasure for the period of the war and instead give the money they might use in such frivolity to the Red Cross or other relief work.

ENDORSED AT HOME

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Maysville Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Maysville adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

Frank Taylor, Prop. barber shop, 401 E. Second St., Maysville, says: "A few months ago, I had a slight attack of kidney trouble and my kidneys were irregular in action. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and then again, were scanty and highly colored. I had a dull, steady ache through the small of my back and my back was weak. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Chanslor's Drug Store, cured me of the complaint."

Mr. Taylor is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that cured Mr. Taylor—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. CAMP LEADERS

Not a more splendid opportunity can be obtained than the one given at Kavanagh Camp for coming in touch with prominent workers with young people. Each night, except the nights of the "Welcome Reception" and of the Pageant, there will be addresses given. One night Miss Belle Bennett, president of the Woman's Missionary Society, will give a message full of heart throbbing interest. Miss Bessie Combs, a returned missionary, will give a talk about her work. Dr. Little, of Louisville, well known for his work among the negroes, will give a stereotypical lecture. On Sunday some well known inspirational speaker will conduct both morning and evening services. Miss Mary Ora Durham will again bring vividly to the young people the appealing message of Christianity at the Vesper services. Mr. J. H. Fuqua, of Fort Thomas, will conduct Bible Study classes. Mrs. J. H. Spillman, president of the Kentucky Conference Methodist Missionary Society, will speak every day at the morning inspirational hour.

Frankfort, Ky., June 18.—Governor Stanley tonight telegraphed the official returns to Washington of the eligibles in Kentucky for selective draft. The total is 187,573. The whites total 165,351 and the negroes 22,222. The government's estimate was 202,000.

INTERESTING PAPER

Read by Mr. J. Foster Barbour at the Reception in the Centennial Celebration of the Presbyterian Church on Monday Night.

The following is the very interesting paper read by Mr. J. Foster Barbour, President of the Bank of Maysville, at the Centennial Celebration of the First Presbyterian Church in Maysville on Monday night:

I have been connected with this church for 65 years having entered its Sabbath School in the summer of 1852. My father moved to Maysville in 1852 during the Pastorate of Dr. R. C. Grundy. I deeply regret that a January Grundy, his son, my life long friend, has been prevented by ill health from attending this Centennial. He remembers the old church which was burned on the lot now occupied by the Opera House, and he has a good memory and could give a most interesting account of the period, I am going to cover, and much more than I am able to do. Do not imagine I am going to attempt any real history, simply a few general recollections of the period principally during the Pastorate of Dr. Grundy and up to the time of the Civil War.

When we first came, the upper room was not completed and the congregation worshipped in the lower room. The upper room was plastered by Maysville mechanics. I have always admired the decoration in the center of the ceiling—the cornice around the room and the columns and work back of the pulpit.

The congregations during this period were large. Everybody came to church—morning and night—a great many of the heads of families were not members of the church. They used to be jokingly referred to as "brothers-in-law of the church." I remember more than half a dozen prominent citizens in this class—and I have been surprised that they were so punctual in attendance on the services with their families, when many of them were Club Men, some Liquor Dealers and all out of sympathy with Dr. Grundy's ideas. He was outspoken in his denunciation of "dancing and wine and cards."

His position on these subjects caused antagonism in the Community and on one occasion he was assaulted in a very cowardly manner by a prominent man, not a member of his church for something he had said in the pulpit, which left scars on his face, which he wore as long as he lived.

Dr. Grundy was aggressive, perfectly fearless and a warrior for any cause he espoused. The discipline in the church during this latter part of his pastorate, and I suppose during all of his pastorate, was very severe. I remember one instance when my sympathies were aroused for a woman who was present, when her husband's expulsion from the church was announced to the congregation. The member who was expelled, was the brother-in-law of the pastor who read the edict.

C. FRANK NASH

Ledger Building, Maysville, Ky.

The church was largest in numbers and influence in this community in the decade between 1850 and 1860. During this time a number of things transpired which made times very hard and made it difficult to raise the money for the completion of the church and meeting expenses. The efforts of the community to build two railroads—one the Maysville & Lexington and the other the Maysville & Big Sandy—were disastrous failures, leaving the whole community stranded. Property shrank to nearly nothing. The city was prostrated with a heavy debt. To give an idea of this: The whole taxable wealth of the city was $800,000 and the debt $240,000, about thirty per cent. liability. Now the assessment is between four and five millions and the debt less than $100,000, about 2 1/2 per cent. The collapse of these enterprises was partly due to the strained condition of finances in the country which culminated in the disastrous panic of 1857. This was soon followed by the Civil War. This will give a general idea of the business conditions during that time.

Then there was an enterprise directly connected with this church which did not break down until a later day, but when it did, it broke up a number of the prominent men of the church.

I refer to the Union Coal & Oil Company—a company that owned extensive Cannel Coal Mines in West Virginia and manufactured illuminating and lubricating oils from the coal.

The discovery of Petroleum ruined their business, which was very profitable.

There were no rich men in the congregation. Men who later accumulated fortunes were in moderate circumstances.

I have heard it said that Dr. Grundy came to Maysville with $20,000 in money, a large sum at that time. He invested this money in building a handsome residence and in a number of houses to rent in the West End—and in the 20 years he lived in Maysville, between the cost of living and the decline in property, he parted with it all.

This splendid house of worship was built in these trying times and under these untoward conditions by a congregation poor in purse but rich in spirit—and stands at this day a monument to their fidelity to the Master and their recognition of their duty to our Heavenly Father.

Soon after the War the division in the church not only was a calamity to this congregation, but to the proud prestige of Presbyterianism all over the State.

When Dr. Grundy accepted a call to Memphis, Tenn., and resigned his charge here, the congregation very unanimously tendered a call to Dr. John A. McClung.

He had been reared in this county—had been a practicing lawyer here. He had at one time become clouded in his religious beliefs and had written a novel which gained wide circulation which gave expression to his doubts. When he recovered from these doubts he was distressed over the circulation of the book and I have heard spent a large sum of money in buying up the copies and destroying them.

He was a man of distinguished intellect—greatly admired. He was a nephew of Chief Justice John Marshall—his mother being the sister of the Chief Justice, and he married a sister of the distinguished Confederate General Albert Sidney Johnson, the Confederate Leader who lost his life at Shiloh. General Johnson was many know, was a native of Mason county. It was a source of delight to the congregation when he accepted the call, and the short time that he lived in Maysville his congregations were always large, many outsiders attending the services.

He was a man of striking appearance—tall and lithe—a great walker—had a swinging gait and demeanor as he walked that indicated a man who was engrossed with mind problems.

He never wrote his sermons, but spoke with an elegance and freedom and ability that commanded attention. His sermons were never long and so exact was he that he never went beyond his set time even if his discourse had not been completed.

He had a habit of frequently bathing in the River—and on the occasion of one of his vacations he went into the River below Buffalo, too near the Falls over which he was carried. His body was recovered and brought back and his funeral was held from this church. Dr. John M. Worrall conducting the services, assisted by Mr. George W. Coons and Rev. Henry M. Scudder. His death was a blow to the church and his untimely end was much deplored by the whole community.

This brings to mind the frequent visits of Dr. John M. Worrall to the congregation in which he conducted a great many meetings. He was for many years the pastor of the Covington Presbyterian Church. He was a man of attractive personality—genial countenance—a mellow voice—a fine pulpit orator—persuasive and kindly in his appeals and many laudable were added to his crown in his ministrations in this congregation. He was a favorite here, both as a man and as a preacher. He made my father's house his headquarters in many of his engagements. I remember how he had to nurse his throat and how my mother, who was an expert in brewing egg-nog, frequently had a glass at his plate at the morning meal—a more agreeable medication than is usually administered to the preachers for their ailments in these prohibition times.

The officers of the church in this period were as the officers of the church are now, and have been during the two-thirds of a century in which I have known their personnel—men of character and standing in the community and loyal to this church. It would be impossible to even give an outline of these men.

My own father during his entire life was prominent in the Councils of the church, active in the Sunday School here and at the Chapel—had for years and years a Bible Class Sunday afternoon which was largely attended by all ages—attended the Church Courts regularly and told me in his last days that he looked back on his work in the Sabbath School with more pleasure than anything in his life.

Andrew M. January, an Elder elected shortly after we came to Maysville in 1852, was the financial bulwark of the congregation (as his descendants are today the main stay of this congregation.) Always at his place in the church and prayer-meetings as long as his health permitted, a man of indefatigable energy and generous to a fault to the church, and public-spirited in all matters of city and county—and charitable in his gifts.

I heard Mr. Mike Ryan say that he never knew a subscription of any character in which the name of Andrew M. January did not appear and always for more than anyone else. I remember when at the Chapel they were raising the money to pay off the debt an enterprising man, Mr. M. J. Chase, recently came to the town and particularly interested in the Fifth Ward announced his subscription a little more than Mr. January had given, when Mr. January heard it, he promptly advanced his own subscription retaining his pre-eminence as the largest giver for all causes.

His son-in-law, Mr. Robert A. Cochran, was recognized as one of the leading spirits and counselors. He was regular in attendance, generous in contributions and took special interest in all the affairs of the church, conducting for a long time a class of boys in the Sabbath School.

I could refer to other members of the Eldership more specifically, but my paper is already too long. Jacob W. Rand, William W. Richeson, Charles B. Coons, Judge Lewis Collins, Josiah Wilson and Will Huston, whom I never knew, and many others deserve to be mentioned in any history of the church. The Brothers, John and Geo. W. Coons, were often in the pulpit. Mr. George Coons was a standby and at times occupied the pulpit as stated supply. They were brothers of Charles B. Coons and of Mrs. Samuel L. Blaine, the mother of John E. Blaine, present with us today, a woman of great force of character and energy and devoted to this church and all its interests and a valued teacher in the Sabbath School.

I will add the name of another good woman, Mrs. Charles B. Ryan, for whom an East Indian girl who had been selected by the foreign missionaries was named—Martha Ryan. This girl was a ward of our Sabbath School—the school for many years contributing to her support $25 a year. I never knew what became of her.

I could speak of scores of others, the Brodricks, the Schultzes, the Wallers, Barrs, Stones, Richesons, McGranaghans, Mother Linn—the an-Hords, Woods, Wallingfords, Smiths, Simpons and many, many more.

The choir in my boyhood days was a great feature, as it has always been in this congregation.

Mr. Mike Ryan, as he was always known by everybody, was leader. He had a fine baritone voice. It used to be said of him he could whistle two parts of a tune at the same time.

Miss Lucy Rand and Miss Haddie January, afterward Mrs. R. A. Cochran, Mr. Rand and the older Seatons and later the Sharpes and younger Seatons and the sisters of Mrs. John Seaton, the Arthur girls, as we all knew them, Miss Charlotte Peers and many others, not forgetting Miss Lucy Cox, now the venerable Mrs. Lucy M. Keith, were members of the choir at that time, while the organ, the old sweet instrument which it was thought could not be surpassed which had been in the fire at the old church and had been carefully taken down and carried out by the loving hands of the members—the dear old instrument still doing service in the Presbyterian Church at Flemingsburg, was the joy of the congregation for many, many years.

Mr. Geo. W. Blatterman was the organist and his playing was greatly admired. I remember his improvised interludes. It was a matter of sincere regret when he removed to Chicago.

In another presence I might speak of the choir at later dates.

My friends, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Blaine, who are with us today, were for many years members—and the wife of Dr. Alderson, who expected to be here at this Centennial, came to this congregation as a bride—and was universally beloved in and out of this church—was in the choir during the entire pastorate of her husband. Her sweet voice was heard both in this building and at the Chapel in inspiring anthems and hymns—to the delight of the congregation.

Dr. Hays' daughters were the chief factors in the choir after he came to Maysville up to the date of the closing of Hayswood Seminary. There are members in the congregation who remember the choir during this period, so I will defer to the wishes of two of the members of Dr. Hays' family who are present and make no special mention.

I recall many others who have passed to the great beyond whose voices and souls are making melody in the heavenly choir and watching and waiting for the loved ones left behind. The Maysville Seminary, a combined male and female academy of very high standing was closely identified with the church, both principals, Jacob W. Rand and W. W. Richeson, being officers. In the school the girls and boys were in different rooms. In some of the classes the girls and boys were together, each of the principals teaching these mixed classes—which were called to one or the other room. Mr. Rand had the girl boarders with a few boys, while Mr. Richeson had a number of boys boarding with him at Rosemont.

Mr. Rand's boarders and family occupied seats in the church where the organ now stands on the Court street side of the pulpit, while the January and Schultz families had the pews on the other side. A part of the exercises of the school was to have the pupils take down the Sunday morning sermon. When the whole school assembled for prayers on Monday morning, these transcripts were read. It was a good exercise enforcing the attention of the pupils and fastening the sermons in their minds.

This school was an institution widely known and had a large circle of distinguished graduates among its Alumni—including General U. S. Grant, Hon. W. H. Wadsworth, Hon. E. C. Plister, Dr. Thomas E. Pickett and scores of others.

I have a vivid recollection of all the church members during all these years—many interesting characters, grand men, noble women, who have had successful lives in all the professions and avocations of life and I could recount many reminiscences, interesting to me but I have taken up enough of your time.
